

hey girls... we're good for workplaces...

how Anglian Water partnered with hey girls...

Anglian Water has been working with Hey Girls since 2022.

Hey Girls environmental and period dignity credentials made this the perfect partnership for Anglian Water who are committed to ending plastic pollution in the East of England as well as focusing on staff well-being.

Anglian Water is a water company that operates in the East of England and has 63 sites and offices across the UK.

business to business

period dignity
at work

the need...

Anglian Water aims to eradicate plastic pollution in the east of England by 2030 – with more than 3,000 tons of period product waste passing through its networks every year.

Switching to organic period products for just two months can also save 900 days' worth of water.

the impact...

Anglian Water has seen widespread praise from staff across its network of offices and sites, with workers commending the company for improving period dignity while having a positive impact on the lives of vulnerable people in their local area.

The partnership, which also includes posting period education posters in all bathrooms, has been met with a positive reaction from men in the office who have gained a better understanding for the health and well being of their family members.

the products...

Anglian Water purchased day and night pads plus regular and super tampons to be freely accessible to all staff.

"not only are these products affordable, but the fact a product is donated for each one purchased is amazing - I love everything about hey girls!"

Hannah Smith
Operational Administrator

from the team...

From the first time we spoke with Anglian Water, we saw how seriously the company takes waste and doing what's best for the environment. It is amazing to work with companies that share our passion, and we are so pleased to see this partnership come into fruition.

Daisy Williams, Hey Girls

Want to get the period dignity conversation flowing?
Say hey to the team now:
b2b@heygirls.co.uk

say hey...